THE MOST HOLY TRINITY

First Reading: Moses has begged to see the glory of God, and God grants his request. On Mount Sinai, God proclaims his name, and lets Moses glimpse his glory as he passes by. But most revealing of all is what God cries out about who God is: “merciful and gracious . . . Slow to anger and rich in kindness and fidelity.” This solemnity does not explain God, but gives us a glimpse of God as a community of love and a fountain of mercy.

Second Reading: The simple words of St. Paul to the Corinthians come in sharp contrast to the splendid imagery of the first two readings. God does not confine himself to a throne, high above the cherubim: wherever his people live in peace, reforming their lives, encouraging and supporting each other, God dwells there also. The last sentence in this passage is a clear expression of the Triune God, and one that is echoed almost verbatim in the greeting at the beginning of Mass.

Gospel: In these famous words from John, we meet the same God of overflowing love that Moses encountered on Mount Sinai in today’s First Reading. This reading is full of contrasts: perish/live, condemn/save, disbelieve/believe. God’s will is always for our life and salvation, and Jesus comes to be savior, not judge. Through faith, we enter into this relationship of love. The third person of the Trinity, the Holy Spirit, is not explicitly mentioned, yet we know that it is through the Holy Spirit that we come to faith in God.
